

337 Final Exam Information

This will be a cumulative exam. It will cover the material covered in the first two tests. See the review sheets for those tests, which are linked on the syllabus page. It will also cover the material we covered since then. There have been five handouts:

- PHP
- Usability
- Search Engine Optimization
- Performance
- Legal and Ethical Issues

To prepare, review the material covered in the first two tests as well as the handouts and lecture material for the entire course. Studying any questions you got wrong on the first two tests would be a good idea, as I could use similar questions on this exam.

I will provide one-page handouts for HTML and CSS—the same handouts you previously used. There is no PHP handout, but you'll not be asked to write PHP, just be able to understand it.

Be prepared to list and discuss the Code of Fair Information Practices and the three additions mentioned in class.
